

日本情報

Japan Information Access Project

Registration

Accommodations

Topics to be Discussed

Keynote Speakers

Speakers

[Moderators /
Commentators](#)

[Washington, DC
Information](#)

Schedule

Papers

[Japanese
Deregulation Forum](#)

Guide to Japanese
Deregulation
(Future)

JIAP Home

規制緩和

Japanese Deregulation: What You Should Know

Friday, April 4, 1997

8 AM to 6 PM

The National Press Club
529 14th Street, N.W.
Washington, DC

Sponsored by
Japan Information Access Project

Supported by
Japan-U.S. Friendship Commission

Leading American scholars and policymakers will discuss Japanese deregulation and prospects for change

TOPICS TO BE DISCUSSED

- Politics and History of Japanese Deregulation
- Implications for Changing and Opening Japan's Markets
- The Ministry of Finance and Financial Reform
- Deregulating Japan's Telecommunications, Software, and Pharmaceutical Industries
- How Deregulation Will Affect Corporate Governance
- U.S. Policies to Encourage Japanese Deregulation

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Stuart Chemtob, Special Counsel for International Trade, Antitrust Division, Department of Justice

Alan P. Larson, Assistant Secretary of State for Economic and Business Affairs

SPEAKERS

Mark Tilton
Purdue University

Lonny Carlile
University of Hawaii at Manoa

Michael Hutchinson
University of California, Santa Cruz
Federal Reserve of San Francisco

K.C. Fung
University of California, Santa Cruz
Hong Kong Centre for Economic Research

Aki Yoshikawa
Georgia Institute of Technology
National Bureau of Economic Research

Marie Anchooguy
University of Washington, Seattle

Ulrike Schaede
University of California, San Diego
School of Pacific Studies

Steven Vogel
Harvard University

MODERATORS/COMMENTATORS

David Boling
Antitrust Division
Department of Justice

Jean Heilman Grier
Office of General Counsel
Department of Commerce

Byron Sigel
Office of Japan Affairs, USTR

Jacques Feuillan
Bureau of Competition
Federal Trade Commission

Terri Zavada
Global Strategy and Analysis
Health Industry Manufacturers Association

Go to the complete

Deregulation Conference Biography page.

REGISTRATION

Registration Fee:

$65 Japan Information Access Project Members;

$100 nonmembers

Registration fee includes continental breakfast, lunch, reception and conference proceedings. There will be no refunds after March 24 and cancellations must be received in writing by this date. After March 24, please add $25 late fee. No shows will be billed.

Please use the Online Registration Form. Make checks payable to the Japan Information Access Project. Credit cards not accepted.

ACCOMODATIONS

Washington Marriott Hotel

1221 22nd Street, N.W.

Washington, D.C. 20037

(202) 872-1500, (800) 228-9290

Rates: $124 single/double plus applicable taxes

Refer to "Japanese Deregulation, Japan Project" for special conference discount. This discount applies through March 17. Please note that this hotel is located close to the Foggy Bottom Metro stop that is three stops from Metro Center, the conference location.

SCHEDULE

Friday, April 4, 1997

8:00-8:30 - Registration & Continental Breakfast (National Press Club)

8:30-8:45 - Welcome, Richard Wood, Chairman, Japan-US Friendship Commission (Yale Divinity School) and Eric Gangloff, Executive Director, Japan-US Friendship Commission

8:45-9:30 - Opening Keynote, "Frustration and Promise in Japanese Deregulation": Stuart M. Chemtob, Special Counsel for International Trade, Antitrust Division, Department of Justice .
Introduction: Mindy Kotler, Director, Japan Information Access Project

9:30-10:30 - The Politics and International Implications of Japanese Deregulation
Mark Tilton (Purdue University) and Lonny Carlile (University of Hawaii, Manoa), Moderator: David Boling, Antitrust Division, Department of Justice

10:30-10:45 - Break

10:45-11:45 - Will Deregulation Open Japan's Markets? Financial Markets & Consumer Goods, Michael Hutchinson (UC Santa Cruz, Federal Reserve of San Francisco) and K.C. Fung (UC Santa Cruz, Hong Kong Centre for Economic Research)
Moderator: Jean Grier, Office of General Counsel, Department of Commerce

Noon-2:00 - Luncheon Keynote, "Deregulation Now! How Japan Will Benefit From Freer Markets", The Honorable Alan P. Larson, Assistant Secretary for Economic and Business Affairs, Department of State (invited). Welcome: Richard Wood, Chairman, Japan-US Friendship Commission (Yale Divinity School), Introduction: Mindy Kotler, Director, Japan Information Access Project

2:15-3:00 - Deregulating Japan's Health Care Industries: Focus on the Pharmaceutical Industry, Aki Yoshikawa (Stanford University & National Bureau of Economic Research), Moderator: Terri Zavada, Global Strategy, Health Industry Manufacturers Association

3:00-3:15 - Break

3:15-4:00 - How Deregulation Will Affect Japanese Corporate Governance
Ulrike Schaede (UC San Diego, School of Pacific Studies), Moderator: Jacques Feuilleux, Bureau of Competition, Federal Trade Commission

4:00-5:00 - Deregulating Japan's High Technology Industries: Software and Telecommunications
Marie Anchoy (University of Washington, Seattle) and Steven Vogel (Harvard University), Moderator: Byron Sigel, Office of Japan, USTR

5:00-6:30 - Reception, National Press Club

The Japan Information Access Project

Established in 1991, the Japan Information Access Project is a nonprofit research center on Japanese information in science, technology, industry and public policy. The Project educates its members and the public about Japanese information through newsletters, programs, the Internet, private discussion groups, and research publications. The Project is supported by its members and grants from American universities, institutions, and foundations.

The Japan-United States Friendship Commission

Established in 1975, the Japan-U.S. Friendship Commission is an independent U.S. governmental grant-making agency for the study of modern Japan. The Commission administers a U.S. government trust fund that originated in connection with the return to the Government of Japan of certain U.S. facilities in Okinawa and with postwar American assistance to Japan. The Commission funds programs of research, training, education, and exchange with Japan in the U.S. national interest. This conference and related research on Japanese deregulation is part of the Commission's mission to focus on issues in the contemporary relationship and to suggest new and more effective ways of managing them.

Last updated: March 6, 1997